Light & Dark is proud to announce that Mike Lane will be starring once again in our next feature length movie, The Tenement. Mike is one of the most talented people that I have had the pleasure to work with. He is a versatile actor whose not afraid of a challenge. He'll dive right in and do what needs to be done for the sake of the character. Some of the best times that I can remember working on Fear of the Dark were when Mike was on or around the set. His personality and his humorous antics created a great sense of friendship in the cast and crew. Never once did he complain. Well, maybe once, if you count his plea for air when I forgot he was in a closed casket (in the funeral scene) and left him there.

It was great working with him the first time and I think it will be even better this time around. He made my job an easy one on Fear of the Dark (my first movie). And when I was tossing around ideas for the next project, he inspired me as to how to portray his character in The Tenement. I think his role as Jimmy Wayne Garrick, a neurotic who thinks he is becoming a werewolf after being bitten by a stray dog, is going to be one of the highlights of the movie.
